Synopsis

Written by Stephen Crane at the age of twenty-one, The Red Badge of Courage is one of the greatest war novels of all time – so groundbreaking that critics consider it to be the first work of modern American fiction. Although Crane never witnessed warfare, The Red Badge of Courage is a realistic and terrifying account of the Civil War and the fear that a young soldier must face on the battlefield as well as within himself. Author Biography

Stephen Crane

Stephen Crane (November 1, 1871 – June 5, 1900) was an American author. Prolific throughout his short life, he wrote notable works in the Realist tradition as well as early examples of American Naturalism and Impressionism. He is recognized by modern critics as one of the most innovative writers of his generation.

The eighth surviving child of Methodist Protestant parents, Crane began writing at the age of four and had published several articles by the age of 16. Having little interest in university studies, he left school in 1891 to work as a reporter and writer. Crane's first novel was the 1893 Bowery tale Maggie: A Girl of the Streets, generally considered by critics to be the first work of American literary Naturalism. He won international acclaim in 1895 for his Civil War novel The Red Badge of Courage, which he wrote without any battle experience.

Before you read the chapter:
The protagonist in most novels features the main character or “good guy”. Questions 📝

1. It isn’t until well into the novel that we learn the name of the protagonist. Until then, the author simply refers to him as “the youth”. Why do you think he does this?

2. Describe the setting at the beginning of Chapter One.

3. Describe the source of the turmoil in Henry’s mind during the first two chapters. What would you say is his chief concern as he thinks about going into battle?

Good to Know

In another popular American novel, Sounder, by William H. Armstrong, the author does not reveal the name of the protagonist for the entire novel, simply referring to him as “the boy”.

2. Describe the setting at the beginning of Chapter One.

3. Describe the source of the turmoil in Henry’s mind during the first two chapters. What would you say is his chief concern as he thinks about going into battle?
4. Investigate: There are a number of military terms in the first few chapters of the novel. Using resources in your school/classroom library or on the Internet, define the following terms:

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>

<td>pickets</td>
</tr>
<tr>

5. Describe how his mother’s reaction to his enlistment in the army had been a disappointment to him.

6. Henry found camp life in the army to be very monotonous. T or F

7. Why do you think the tall man’s serene unconcern dealt Henry a measure of confidence?

8. Describe the general reaction of the soldiers to the soldier trying to steal a horse from the farm girl. What do you think prompted them to react in this manner?
A. Rank and File.

A number of army ranks are mentioned in The Red Badge of Courage. Soldiers like Henry, soon understand the significance of different army ranks, but for the general public, they can be quite confusing. Using resources in your school library or on the Internet, arrange the following army ranks in order, from the least to the greatest:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Rank</th>
<th>Rank</th>
<th>Rank</th>
<th>Rank</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>major</td>
<td>private</td>
<td>general</td>
<td>corporal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>colonel</td>
<td>sergeant</td>
<td>lieutenant</td>
<td>captain</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

B. Personification is giving human qualities to something that is not human. The first paragraph of the novel provides the reader with at least two examples of personification: “...the army awakened, and began to tremble with eagerness...” The army reminds the reader of a person – awakening and trembling. Later in the paragraph the author writes, “... and at night when the stream had become of a sorrowful blackness...” Here the stream is described as being sorrowful.

a) Why do you think personification is a literary device used by many authors?

b) Create your own example of personification.

c) Bonus: Keep your eyes open for another example of personification. When you find one, come back to this page and record it below. (There are dozens in the novel.)
C. Anagrams

An anagram is a word that is formed by changing the order of the letters of another word. For example, the letters in the word PAN can also form the word NAP. Follow these directions to form the anagrams:

a) read the clue in the right-hand column.

b) Using the word in the left-hand column move the letters around in any order, but you must use all the letters.

Each of the words in the left-hand column are found in the 1st chapter of our novel.

D. Research – Famous General of the American Civil War

In Chapter Two the author mentions the great French general, Napoleon Bonaparte. The American Civil War also produced its share of great and famous generals – in both the Union (North) and Confederate (South) armies. From the list below select one general. Using resources in your school library or on the Internet, investigate the general of your choice and describe four interesting facts about the general and/or his accomplishments during the war to share with your colleagues. With your teacher’s permission you may choose a general not included on this list.
